33 CHILDREN ARE INVITED TO VACATION HERE

At least thirty-three New York tenement children will be guests of Adams counties this coming summer—and members of the local Friendly Town committee are hoping to raise the number to 40 before the period for obtaining the children closes Monday evening.

Mrs. Clark Smith, chairman of the Friendly Town committee, said today that those wishing to have New York children as their guests for two weeks, beginning July 12, can make reservations for them by calling her at 454-X up to Monday evening.

The complete list of requests for children will be sent to the New York Herald Tribune at that time. The youngsters will arrive here July 12 and will be brought by the committee to the Hotel Gettysburg where they will be met by their vacation sponsors.

Those planning to be hosts to the children may designate the sex, age and other details concerning the children they want. Twenty of those scheduled to come here so far are girls and 13 boys.

Two Take 3 Children

For a number of those requesting children, the youngsters will arrive in pairs, several having asked for a brother and sister, two brothers or two sisters, so that the youngsters will have a companion when they come to visit in the country for the two summer weeks.

Two families will be hosts to three children each. Both of the families have entertained Fresh Air youngsters before. In both instances they had two of the children with them on previous years, and the youngsters coming with them are other children from the same family.

Quite a number of those who are asking for children this year have been hosts previously to Fresh Air children, Mrs. Smith said.

Creeping Socialism

Undermining Bill Of Rights

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR

Some of our radio and television announcers and entertainers, by way of exciting the interest of their listeners, have acquired the practice of weaving into their "commercials" comments and observations concerning the many liberties and freedoms guaranteed to us Americans by the Constitution and Bill of Rights. They emphasize in particular the "Freedom of Choice"; that whether it be tooth paste, gasoline, wall paper, or whatnot, we are at liberty to choose what we want without interference or direction on the part of anyone, anywhere, official or unofficial.

Listening to one of these broadcasts, amplification of the subject occurred, and I am setting it down here in the hope that my readers will concur in the views expressed:

Only Two Kinds

Yes; it is true that we do enjoy the freedom of choice, together with that of religion, speech, assembly, press, etc., to a greater degree than do any other people; and it is the writer's considered opinion that we are now in grave danger of losing, for all time, these hard-won, priceless possessions.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

For every child crippled by polio in the United States, 25 children are permanently crippled in traffic accidents.

Parents can help reduce this severe loss by carefully instructing their children, emphasizing the importance of being careful. They should teach their children to play away from traffic, not to chase balls into the street, to look both ways before crossing a street and then to cross only at intersections; to obey all traffic lights and regulations and when walking on highways to always walk on the LEFT side of the road.

The National Safety Council stresses these rules; Look both ways before crossing. Play away from traffic. Watch for turning cars. Walk on left, facing traffic. Keep from between parked cars. Know all (bicycling) rules and use them. Cross only at corners. Wear white after dark. (Please Turn to Page 3)

Tokyo, June 16 (AP)—Communist forces fell back all along the Korean front today but in the mountainous eastern sector covered the withdrawal from strong positions with artillery and savage fighting rearguards.

The general headquarters communiqué said the Reds were abandoning strong positions in the sector. The bitter rearguard fighting appeared as a last ditch protection of the main escape route to the northeast.

The Glenn L. Bream Garage team moved into first place and the Texas Lunch became a serious contender for top honors through victories scored Friday evening in the Soft-ball league.

Scoring in every inning and pounding out a total of 27 hits, the Garagemen set a new high for the season by lacing the Eagles 28-6 in the first game. Fair had a shutout going into the final half inning when the Eagles scored six runs. Rohrbach and Fair each collected five hits for the winners, the former also poling a homerun.

The Moose dropped their second straight one-run decision of the week when the Texas Lunch eked out a 4-3 victory in a well-played second game. The defeat knocked the Moose out of a first place tie, but half a game head of the lunchmen.

In the last half of the final inning Timbers bounced an infield single off Tawney's glove. He reached third base on two wild pitches and streaked home when Saylor grounded out Joe Lakish and "Reds" Tawney turned in tight pitching performances the whole way.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Birmingham, Mich., June 16 (AP)—When Lew Worsham, the guy with the jutting chin and toothy smile, won the open golf championship in 1947, they said it was a fluke. . . . He hadn't done much before then and he proceeded to support such statements by doing almost nothing the next couple of years on the tournament trail. . . . But today's finale of the 51st open finds a plumper, more assured Worsham as the former champion who has the best chance of winning again. . . . At 147, he's only three strokes off Bobby Locke's pace—plenty the way Locke has been playing. . . . But Ben Hogan and Cary Middlecoff are two strokes further behind; Craig Wood surprisingly has 148 and Gene Sarazen (of all champs) is close up with 150.

PERSISTENCE PAYS

The best reward Lew got for his open victory was a job at Pittsburgh's celebrated Oakmont club, where the PGA tournament will be played late this month. . . . Maybe that accounts for his comeback. It's a notoriously difficult course and anybody who can score there should be able to play anywhere. . . . "I didn't play very well for a couple of years after winning the open," Lew admitted, "and I haven't won much in the past few seasons. . . . I don't know what made the difference. I just kept on trying and eventually I got to hitting them better. . . . At the end of the winter tour I was third-leading money winner."

THERE'S NO ANSWER

Tall, scrawny Dave Douglas, another threat to the open leaders, is another who has a hard time explaining those changes in form. . . . He was one of two players to equal par yesterday, taking over second spot just one stroke behind Locke. . . . He looked puzzled trying to tell about it. . . . Said Dave: "I was shooting in the 80's in practice. I haven't been hitting the ball well lately. I wasn't yesterday, nor on the front side today. It's something that comes and goes; you can't tell why."

LIKE IT OR LUMP IT

Little Paul Runyan, who fired amazing wood shots to stay up among the leaders, chewed lumps of sugar fed to him by his wife, all through yesterday's round. . . . No wonder he made so many sweet shots.

SPORTS SHORTS

Los Angeles, June 16 (AP)—Because he weighed too much, navy man Dick Greenawalt of York, Pa., lost his national title in the 152 pound division last night in the National AAU weight lifting championships.

Greenawalt and George Yoshioka of Honolulu each hoisted a total of 650 pounds for the three conventional lifts. But Greenawalt tipped the scales at 129 pounds, two more than Yoshioka.

Rules of weight lifting give the win to the man of lesser body weight in event of a tie.

RASCHI TAKES 10TH; CHISOX DROP 2 GAMES

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Vic Raschi, the Springfield (Mass.) rifle, is on the beam again. As a result the pennant outlook for the New York Yankees is brighter today.

The 32-year-old righthander, winner of 21 games in each of the past few seasons, apparently is headed for his best season in the majors. Raschi ran up an 8-1 record card and then suffered two sound beatings but the hard-working ace has come back with two neat performances.

He beat the Chicago White Sox last Friday and last night turned back the Detroit Tigers, 2-0, on three hits to become the first major league pitcher to win ten games. Raschi won his tenth game in 1950 on July 4.

Raschi's glittering victory over the Tigers enabled the Yanks to cut the White Sox's pace-setting margin to three games. The Sox were upset by the last-place Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3 and 12-5 in a two-night doubleheader.

Raschi fanned eight, had a no-hitter until the sixth inning when relief pitcher Fred Hutchinson singled and was in trouble until in the ninth. The Tigers put two on with one out but Raschi struck out Joe Ginsberg and George Kell was thrown out attempting to steal third as Ginsberg fanned.

Free-For-All
Philadelphia's stunning victories over the White Sox ended Chicago's 15-game consecutive road win streak. The A's won the opener in 11 innings and went up in a free for all.

Elmer Valo walked with two out and scored the winning run on Gus Zernial's double that Jim Busby fumbled in left center field. Valo bowled over catcher Gus Niarhos who dropped the ball in the collision.

Sox pitcher Saul Rogovin, backing up the play, swung at Valo. Players from both teams rushed out and a few blows were landed before order was restored. White Sox Manager Paul Richards argued the decision and played the nightcap under protest. Bob Hooper, who stopped the White Sox's 15-game winning streak recently, was the winner.

Zernial started the A's off in the nightcap with a grand slam homer in the first inning and little Bobby Shantz stayed ahead the rest of the way to gain his fifth victory.

Don Johnson, recent waiver acquisition for the St. Louis Browns, turned in his second straight victory for Washington as he pitched the Senators to a 4-2 decision over Early Wynn and the Cleveland Indians.

Dodgers Win Again
The Brooklyn Dodgers continued their relentless pennant drive in the National league, edging the Chicago Cubs, 2-1. Pitcher Don Newcombe, returning to action after a week's layoff, drove home the winning run with a sixth inning single.

The second-place New York Giants remained six games off the pace, outlasting the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-6. Wes Westrum sparked the Giants, driving in six runs on his ninth and tenth homers. He homered with the bases loaded in the fifth and with one on in the ninth.

The St. Louis Cardinals snowed under the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-2. Billy Johnson, Stan Musial and Peanut Lowrey featured the Cards' 13-hit drive with three safeties each.

Willie Ramsdell pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-1 decision over Max Surkont and the Boston Braves. Rain washed out the game between the St. Louis Browns and the Red Sox in Boston.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP HOPE ALIVE!

Always expect that the best is to happen. Even though it doesn't you are still ahead, for you have aspired, and that is always a step forward. With constructive thoughts always in the mind the flame of Hope will never die out.

Nothing is so important as a positive frame of mind. Believe you were born into this world for a purpose and you will take pride in every effort to prove to yourself that you are a superior person, endowed by God to carry out a specific task. Of course you may engage in many a task, but with one central ideal or purpose. We can happily prospect all along the way when we have determined upon a definite objective.

No matter how discouraged we may get at times, we must keep this Hope of ours forever alive. Mind not if you are misunderstood. Most people are. It is a waste of time to worry about it. We need buoyancy in our lives. We need to cultivate our self-respect so that people will take note of it. We should take pride in the doing of every worthy thing. With Hope as a watchword to our lives, we cannot really fail.

These are days of fear and frustration. Never have we needed self-discipline as now. Never have we needed a healthy Hope as now. There has been a breaking up of moral values that were so self-evident in our national and international life a few decades ago. Gradually we have bartered them away.

The character of America does not have the standing in the world it used to have. Why is this? Never has this western world more greatly desired peace and good will in the world. How illusive is this peace that we are trying to buy with huge armaments! What has become of the statesmanship of the world? What a challenge Christianity faces. Every time war has been tried, Hope in the world has shrunk in people's hearts.

Without this Hope, however, where would we be? How could we live from day to day, and engage in our regular pursuits, if it not that we must keep Hope forever alive within us?

DIFFERENCE

He cannot see it my way.

His way I cannot see.

The low way or the highway,

One better seems to me.

But meet on straight or byway

Good friends we still can be.

Who has the vision clearer,

We cannot truly say.

Which road may be the nearer

And which the longer way?

Is goal or friendship dearer?

With friendship I would stay.

He seeks the truth as I do.

I seek the truth as he.

And so I wonder why do

Grave quarrels have to be?

Why let what mind and eye do

Make foes of him and me?

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

One trouble with trying to teach safety is that all some drivers grasp is the steering wheel.

How Old Is Ann?

How to tell the mileage age of a car requires a bit of sleuthing. If there is reason to suspect that the odometer has been set back or perhaps was not in operation for some time. One trick is to take a look at the rubber pads on the clutch and brake pedal. These may be badly worn. The exhaust manifold is another telltale for with age this will become quite rusty or even white.

Sometimes the brakes can be used as a check on mileage. Of course, they could have been recently relined, but the chances are that if there is deception in the wind the linings will be badly worn.

If an engine has been overhauled there will always be evidences of wrenches being applied to bolts and nuts. Be suspicious of a too clean luggage compartment as it is a simple matter to cover up the evidences of age and abuse by spraying the interior. If the universal joints are the sealed type and have been replaced you can figure that the car has had at least 30 to 40 thousand miles.

Right On The Button

An engine tends to overheat with a "late" spark because combustion is incomplete when the piston is well down on its power stroke. Water jacks surrounding the cylinders serve to carry off the excess heat on the cylinder walls, but when the combustion process is delayed naturally the water jackets have to wipe away heat from a larger area. This is one reason why you should always have spark advanced as far as possible without knocking.

With so much demand for higher generator output to meet the increasing use of electrical equipment on the car electrical men are warning against the practice of trying to adjust an older-type current regulator to match a higher output generator. Any such adjustment is certain to burn out the regulator. The smarter caper is to leave the old-type regulator alone and sacrifice the full output of the generator. This will probably mean a loss of no more than 5 amperes which can readily be made up through a little more economy in the use of the car's electrical equipment.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"How to crank the engine by pushing the car where the drive is by means of a torque converter or an automatic transmission is merely a matter of remembering to get up a speed of from 15 to 20 miles per hour in neutral, then switching on the ignition and shifting either into 'drive' or 'low.' Here it is necessary to have the car manufacturer's specific instructions, for some say to use the 'drive' position and some 'low.' The car should, however, be pushed rather than towed so that there is no chance of a collision should the engine take off suddenly."

Test For Free Roll

I don't know why more drivers do not do it, but a useful brake test is to see if the brakes bind. On any kind of downgrade the car should not only roll freely but should steadily increase in speed. You can detect brake shoe drag by resistance to rolling when you attempt to push the car on level ground. If you suspect tight front wheel bearings simply jack up the front wheels and see if they spin freely. Don't overlook the fact that dragging of shoes when the system is operated hydraulically can also be due to trouble in the master cylinder, pressure building up until there is automatic application of the brakes.

That's How It Is

Old timers are always distressed these days because there is virtually no more rebuilding of batteries. These veterans remember the days when a bad cell could be replaced, or an entire battery rebuilt at about a third the cost of a new one. Today they are told that rebuilding would cost as much as a new battery, and probably wouldn't be as satisfactory. This sounds like the familiar "paper towel" theory—use it until it gives out and then grab a new one. The idea would be quite acceptable if batteries were inexpensive. However, the fact is that factory building of batteries has greatly outdistanced hand rebuilding so that the latter has been forced out of the picture.

Today, with the quick charger in the saddle, it is difficult to get a rental battery while the old one is being given a slow charge.

Three To Remember

Ignition coils often burn out because of unfavorable conditions in the ignition circuit. Failure of the regulator to hold down generator output will do it.

The most common trouble with automatic chokes is binding of the choke valve itself. Often this is due to stickage of its shaft.

If there is air leakage around worn valve stem guides the pointer of a vacuum gauge tester will show rapid and fine tremors. This should disappear when the engine is accelerated to more than fast idle.

Extra Heater Cools

Where it is known that the engine's cooling capacity leaves little margin for inefficiency a smart trick is to install an extra hot water heater. This has the same effect as using a larger radiator, and may be quite an advantage in cold weather, too. Where the engine tends to run hot don't shut off the heater valves in summer. There will be no discomfort in the driving compartment if the doors over the heater core are kept closed and fresh air is admitted to the car.

Give It "Time" Treatment

One of my good readers has come up with another bit of evidence to prove the point I have so often made regarding the automobile's queer way of being able to solve its own troubles. This fellow was having quite a time diagnosing a queer noise in the motor after an overhaul. Finally a factory representative looked over the situation and came up with the idea that it was a hydraulic noise. No one was quite sure what this meant, but the owner decided to try the go-ahead-and-forget-it method. He now tells me that after 4,000 additional miles the noise has definitely disappeared.

What's On Your Mind?

Q. What would cause two new exhaust valves to burn and warp? Car was not driven too fast. There was normal tappet clearance. H. K.

A. Hot spots in the motor block will do this. A thorough cleaning of the cooling system is recommended.

Q. The engine of my car has a peculiar habit of slowing down when I am running along at a steady pace, then picking up again. I have checked the fuel pump and the level of the carburetor float. G. R.

A. I think you should check for a poor ground at the distributor.

Q. My car has an annoying habit of pulling to the right. I have checked the brakes carefully. Also had a front end alignment job. W. Y. H.

A. How about a loose front wheel bearing?

Q. In spite of tampering with the current regulator and checking the wiring from the battery to the generator the charging rate continues too low. This is certain to result in battery trouble. Wm. L. L.

A. Not only has the battery trouble started, but it is the cause of the low generator output. You'll find that the battery has sulphated plates.

Q. What size fuse should I get for the electric clock? G. J.

A. One that is not over two amperes.

Q. Here's one for you: after installing a rebuilt vacuum-type windshield wiper we can't get any action from it at all. It operated perfectly when being tested. Any ideas? F. D. S.

A. Maybe you have merely twisted the hose so that there is no vacuum for operating the wiper motor. This might happen when re-installing the wiper.

Q. Can a car with an automatic transmission or a torque converter be towed on its rear wheels? H. G. N.

A. Yes, but certain precautions are necessary. The selector should be placed in the neutral position, and usually the car should not be towed fast. If the transmission is damaged it usually is necessary to disconnect the drive shaft.

Q. Is it true that some of the newer generators have an output of 40 amperes? H. J. Jr.

A. Some go to 45 and a few to 50 amperes.

LAFAYETTE IN NEW BUSINESS

St. Louis, June 16 (AP)—Lafayette college of Easton, Pa., is going into the business of building street cars.

Sale of the St. Louis Car company for $6,000,000 to the college was announced Thursday by Edwin B. Meissner and his son, Edwin, Jr., company officials.

The transaction was negotiated by the Marquis Foundation, a non-profit corporation formed to acquire property for the benefit of the school.

The company builds light weight, noise proof streetcars, elevated and subway cars and electric trackless trolleys. During World War Two it produced amphibious tanks for the government. Its gross earnings for the year ending last October 31 were $367,000.

The Meissners said they agreed to sell their 86,700 shares of stock for cash and notes at $60 a share. The foundation is to offer to buy the other 13,291 shares of other stockholders under the same terms.

Another condition of the sale assures the continued services of the Meissners as president and executive vice president, with the younger Meissner to succeed to the presidency of the firm upon the death of his father.

Lafayette college is expected to pay off the notes from company earnings.

FARM CALENDAR

See Flower Gardens — Visitors at the Pennsylvania State college this summer will see more than 800 different annuals and 300 kinds of roses, in addition to perennial flowers, in bloom. The colorful display is attracting more and more attention each year.

Grow Chicks On Range — If proper range shelters and shade are provided, along with ample feeding and watering equipment, labor in caring for pullets on range will be reduced. F. H. Leuschner, extension poultry specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, says that such equipment will help to provide healthful conditions.

Avoid Barn Fires — Make certain that hay is well cured before it is stored in hay mows. Damp hay will heat and start a fire — this is the principal cause of barn fires. Freshly stored hay should be checked regularly for several weeks to see that there is no sign of heating, say Penn State extension agricultural engineers.

East Berlin—Alverta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Slothour, near York, was a visitor during the week at the home of Mrs. Mary Stoner.

Another public benefit taking place this evening is the annual strawberry festival for the benefit of Paradise Catholic church, on the grounds of the parish church.

Visitors this week at the home of Mrs. Daisy Resser and Miss Ethel Resser were Mrs. Resser's grandson, Fred Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stauffer, Hanover, and Barbara Eck, daughter of Mrs. Mildred H. Eck, York, formerly of here.

Young people of the parish of Paradise Catholic church who attend Delone Catholic high school, McSherrystown, will have charge of the "rides," amusements, games, and refreshments at the Delone Athletic Association carnival on the campus June 21. They will be assisted by youth of the parish of Conewago Chapel. The carnival will be conducted all next week, with a different parish taking charge each night.

Plan To Wed

Walter P. Sheffer, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart E. Sheffer, Sr., and Miss Faye Marie Wolgamuth, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolgamuth, Manchester R. 1, plan to be married Saturday, June 30.

Mrs. Guy Albright, Hampton, formerly of here, who has been confined to her home since the Christmas holidays when she fell and fractured a leg in three places, is able to get about the house with a crutch and a cane.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be held throughout June, July and August for parishioners of Paradise Catholic church on Sunday morning, both after the 7 o'clock Mass at the Protectors chapel and the 8:30 Mass at the parish church, to replace the customary Sunday evening devotions which will not be resumed until September. The first plan of the Rev. Francis L. Mignot, parish administrator, was to have the service after the 8:30 Mass only, but a number of the congregation would have been unable to attend at this time.

School Closes

The ninth year's session of the Daily Vacation Bible School under the auspices of local Protestant churches was concluded for 1951 Friday after two-weeks of sessions at the local high school building for children between the ages of three and fourteen. The school opened of the Gettysburg substitution with a ten per cent overload, paid a fine of $50 and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Young Hiccups Victim Is Cheerful Despite Spasms

Los Angeles, June 16 (AP) — Jack O'Leary has had the hiccups for three years.

The 26-year-old former market manager still is being shaken by the spasms—once per second night and day. He has dropped from 130 to 82 pounds and cannot retain food long.

But, his mother said Wednesday on the third anniversary of the marathon case of hiccups, her son is cheerful. The family still believes that somewhere they will find a cure.

Two hundred doctors have examined Jack. And he has tried all kinds of medicine.

The only thing that helped him was a trip to Arizona. But even there only the rate of hiccuping was slowed. The spasms didn't stop.

Young O'Leary is unable to work. His mother says he is barely alive. He is able to be up and around a little. But because he can obtain so little nourishment, he has no strength for physical exertion.

Mrs. O'Leary said he eats only carrots, toast, peas and beets and is not able to retain any food longer than 20 minutes. His only liquid is water.

"I never give up," said the tired mother. "Somewhere there is a cure. We continue to pray that we will find it."

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg — Miss Marjorie Crist, daughter of Mrs. William A. Frailley, celebrated her birthday at her home, "Balmara," by entertaining a group of her friends on Monday evening. The guests included:

Miss Virginia Baumgardner, Miss Betty Ann Glass, Miss Carrie Hahn, Miss Norma Hartle, Miss Sue Hays, Miss Shirley Jones, Miss Louis Keilholz, Miss Mary Ridenour, Miss Shirley Troxell, Miss Virginia Wanzel. Also: Fred Bower, Carl Crist, Donald Herring, Euclid Jones and Frank Stinson. Mrs. George W. Green, Jr., assisted the hostess and her mother in serving.

Dr. James H. Allison is improving his property on East Main street with a new front pavement.

The Junior class of the Emmitsburg high school went on a class trip to Hershey park, Hershey, Pa., Thursday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, English teacher, and Mrs. William Baker, whose husband is instructor in agriculture in the high school, and Miss Maebeil Carson, a member of this year's graduating class.

FAILED TO HEED TRACK SIGNALS

Washington, June 16 (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said today a two-train collision on the Pennsylvania railroad near Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 18 was caused by a failure to operate one train in accordance with automatic signals.

In the accident, the fast Red Arrow crashed into the rear end of the Philadelphia Night Express. Eight persons were killed and 123 injured.

Both trains were eastbound and the Philadelphia Express had made an emergency stop shortly before the following train ran into its rear.

The commission investigators said the Red Arrow was then moving at 40 miles per hour, when its speed should have been no more than 15 miles per hour in view of the automatic signal indications.

The commission recommended that the railroad install an automatic train-speed-control system on the section involved which would hold all trains to 20 miles per hour moving through a block occupied by another train.

SENATOR RAPS GEN. MARSHALL

Washington, June 16 (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc.) bitterly assailed Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall Thursday as a "mysterious, powerful figure in a great conspiracy" to deliver this country to communism.

McCarthy included his long-time foe, Secretary of State Acheson, as another member of what the Senator termed "a conspiracy of infamy so black that, when it is finally exposed, its principals shall be forever deserving of the maledictions of all honest men."

Neither Marshall nor Acheson had any comment.

And highly-placed Democratic senators indicated they would ignore the attack on Marshall and Acheson.

McCarthy took the Senate floor yesterday with a 169-page, 60,000-word speech charging that Marshall sided with the Russians on every question in World War II and paved the way for China to fall to the Communists. He said also the general is "stepped in falsehood."

McCarthy had estimated he would talk for six or seven hours. As the dinner hour approached, he began to skip many pages. Finally he relinquished the floor after two hours and 45 minutes. He had read only about one-third of his speech but he had all of it printed in the Congressional Record.

POLICE GUARD RITA, DAUGHTER

Glenbrook, Nev., June 16 (AP) — Police guards Friday patrolled the rented home of screen actress Rita Hayworth at this fashionable mountain resort.

District Attorney Jack Streeter stationed the 7-man guard Thursday, explaining he feared for the safety of the actress and her 17-month-old daughter, Yasmin.

Streeter said he heard hoodlums in Miami, Fla., express too much interest in Rita and Yasmin, her daughter by Aly Kahn. He just returned from Florida.

Streeter quoted one unidentified person, unaware he was speaking to a law officer, as saying: "Little Yasmin would be worth a lot of money."

The district attorney said Miss Hayworth's jewelry, valued at $250,000, has been taken to a vault in Reno.

Miss Hayworth is establishing legal residence to divorce Aly, fabulously rich Indian prince.

Streeter said Miss Hayworth hired the guards, all Reno policemen, after he and Sheriff Jim Fell advised it.

Creeping Socialism

one year or 20 years. Nobody knows. Our annual budget may go from 80 to 100 or 150 million dollars, and our battlefield casualties to proportions too fearful to contemplate. Nobody knows. The burden of prohibitive taxes may kill incentive and require the government to take over much, how much is anybody's guess, of the nation's production and distribution. Millions of young men may be taken from their homes and their careers. Civilian industry may be indefinitely dislocated in the interest of defense production. In fact, our normal life may be disrupted at every level. These are all reasonable probabilities.

Now the cumulative effect of all this in the long run, would mean a radical change in the face of America. Freedom of choice would be restricted more and more as government controls continued to expand. Individual responsibility always diminishes as the restraints imposed by government increase. History teaches us this from time immemorial.

Highest Living Standards

The right to reject, to choose, to decide, is the essence of individual responsibility. In other words, it is the essence of personal freedom as defined by the Bill of Rights. It is also the basis of our system of risk capital, free enterprise, and the profit system. The power of free men to make decisions by and for themselves has generated mass incentive to create and produce, to turn luxuries into necessities; and this in turn has provided America with a standard of living which is the envy of all the world. Private initiative, the willingness of men to risk their labor and capital, coupled with the assurance that their freedom and property will be protected by the safeguards of the Constitution, have transformed our beloved country from a mere wilderness into the world's foremost power; and all of this in the span of a few generations.

With only 6 percent of the world's land area, and 7 percent of its population, the people of the United States enjoy 70 percent of the world's automobiles, 58 percent of the telephones, 51 percent of the radios and 45 percent of the world's wealth, the bulk of which is created wealth such as automobiles. There are more telephones in New York City alone than in all of Russia. There is, approximately, only one radio for every hundred Russians, and even less in China and India.

Lowest Death Rate

We have, too, the lowest mortality rate, the best hospital facilities, a greatly increased life span, many more colleges and grade schools, and much less illiteracy.

Our unparalleled harnessing of electricity and development of water power have multiplied the nation's output, shortened the work week, increased the pay check, and reduced prices to the consumer. All this and more adds up to a higher standard of living, and it can only be maintained and perpetuated under our constitutional form of government.

Woodrow Wilson said: "I believe in democracy because it releases the energies of every human being"; and I think it is clear that the Constitution of the United States has fostered a government which has released the energies of man more than has any other government.

As already stated, the real danger to our free institutions is the unpredictable duration of what we are pleased to call the "present emergency." The longer it lasts the deeper it will cut into the power of free decision, which is the chief ingredient of American growth and American liberty. The designation, "emergency," in the last analysis, is just another way of saying that henceforth government will make those decisions that individuals and communities once made for themselves.

As it is not unlikely that the present emergency may last a decade, or possibly two, the generation just out of school would become more accustomed and conditioned to controls and restraints than to the liberties and freedoms we have been taught to cherish and protect. And right here is the great danger, for with such a background the fatal step to state socialism would be easy to take.

What then can we do to avert this frightful possibility? It is a challenge that should stir the heart and soul of every one who truly loves America. The first step, in my judgment, would be the creation of a constant awareness of the threat to our constitutional freedoms, for so long as such awareness remains rooted in the mind of the average American it will serve to alert him to the impending danger.

Awareness Not Enough

But awareness is not enough. In our government and political parties there are men of worth and integrity who place country above expediency. Likewise in labor and industry most of their leaders have shown themselves willing to subordinate personal gain to the preservation of constitutional government.

It is these constructive forces that must unite and stand firmly and stoutly together during the fateful years that confront us. A coalition such as this, with the help of an aroused public opinion, could bring about true cooperation on the part of government, industry, and labor, and every other segment of society in the task of saving America.

We are now doing a remarkable job mobilizing critical materials to meet the threat of physical aggression; so why not mobilize our most precious asset — the talent of our patriotic leaders — to meet the ever greater threat to our freedom — the invisible invasion of an alien form of government.

Lesson In Socialism

Always having in mind the desire of the younger generation for a change in the existing order, and its tendency to subscribe to alienisms and ideologies, I want to close this article with A LESSON IN SOCIALISM, by Thomas J. Shelly, teacher of economics and history in a New York high school.

"As a teacher in the public schools I find that the socialist idea of TAKING FROM EACH ACCORDING TO HIS ABILITY AND GIVING TO EACH ACCORDING TO HIS NEED is now generally accepted, without question, by most of our pupils. In an effort to explain the fallacy of this theory to my students, I sometimes try this approach:

"When one of the brighter or harder working pupils makes a grade of 95 on a test, I suggest that I take away 20 of his points and give them to a student who has made only 55 points. Thus each would be contributing according to his ability and — since both would have a passing mark — each would receive according to his need. After juggling the grades of all the other pupils in this fashion, the result is approximately a 'common ownership' grade of between 75 and 80 — the minimum needed for passing, or for survival. Then I speculate with the pupils as to the probable results if I should actually use the socialist theory in grading their papers.

Points For Teachers

"First, the highly productive pupils — and they are always a minority in school as well as in life — would soon lose all incentive for producing. Why strive to make a high grade if part of it is to be taken away from you by 'authority' and given to someone else?

"Second, the less productive pupils — a majority in school as elsewhere — would, for a time, be relieved of the necessity to study or produce. This socialist system would continue until the high producers had

1951 FATHER'S DAY CARDS SHOW DAD AS MOM SEES HIM

According to tradition, Father's Day (Sunday, June 17) is a time when devoted sons and daughters everywhere express their love, and tell Dad how much they appreciate all he has done for them. In recent years, however, publishers have noticed that Mom herself has been requesting unusual Father's Day greetings like those above. Consequently, a surprisingly large quota of this year's cards are designed especially for mothers to send. The Indian Squaw at upper-left, for example, wishes a happy Father's Day "TO TOP MAN ON MY TOTEM POLE!"

OFFER FREE BUS RIDES TO CHURCH

Huntington, W. Va., June 16 (AP)—You can't get to heaven in a rocking chair.

And so the Ohio Valley Bus company is going to provide free bus service for folks in the Huntington area.

Not to heaven, mind you, but at least on the first leg of the journey. Beginning Sunday morning, a passenger may board an OVB bus and tell the driver: "I'm going to Sunday school." Or if he's a late riser: "I'm going to church." The trip won't cost one cent.

President Leonard H. Samworth told why: "We feel there is a need for people to get back to church—any church. This is our contribution."

The contribution got a big hand from the Huntington Ministerial association. The Rev. Kenneth W. Munster, president, wrote Samworth: "We hereby publicly commend you and your company and express our gratitude."

Residents of Wayne, Fort Gay, Lavalette and other West Virginia communities served by the bus line will get similar service every Sunday morning.

Graduates From Drexel Institute

Major Gen. Clift Andrus, deputy commander of the Second Army, who spoke here July 2, 1950, during the battle anniversary, was the speaker this morning at the graduation exercises held by Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia.

He told the graduates that the "tremendous potential strength of America's industrial and economic development and scientific skill is the main hope of those unfortunate peoples who still cherish freedom but are under Communist oppression."

U. S. Senator James Henderson Duff was presented with a honorary degree of doctor of laws at the service.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shriver and sons, John and Ronald, visited Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Heck and family and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knox and family. Others visiting at the Knox home were Mrs. Russell Lutz, Paxtang, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox and son, Bobby, Bristol, Tenn. In Memoriam

TIMMINS: In loving but sad remembrance of our dear daughter and sister, Dorothy Sowers Timmins, who passed away June 16, 1950.

"Dear Dorothy, we love you so just how much no one will ever know.

We have the fondest memories of you,

Yet in our hearts the sadness peeps through.

The last we saw you was one year ago,

But in our eyes your face will always glow.

God took you to His home, you see so you could rest eternally."
